

The websites of <http://dreams-in-transit.com/> and <http://exhibition.dreams-in-transit.com/> use cookies and similar technologies to ensure the proper functioning of the procedures performed and improve the surfing experience of users and carry out profiling activities. If you have already made a selection, you can change your cookie choices (excluding technical ones).

Definition

Cookies are text files (letters and/or numbers) containing groups of information stored on data subjects' computer or mobile device every time they visit a website through a browser. At each subsequent visit, the browser sends these cookies to the website which originated them or to another website. Cookies allow websites to store certain information in order to ensure that users can navigate online in a simple and fast way.

Cookies are used for different purposes, have different characteristics and they can be used either by the owner of the website you are visiting, or by third parties.

Types of cookies

The Human Safety Net does not use cookies in its website for commercial profiling.

The website of The Human Safety Net uses the following categories of cookies.

Cookie List

A cookie is a small piece of data (text file) that a website – when visited by a user – asks your browser to store on your device in order to remember information about you, such as your language preference or login information. Those cookies are set by us and called first-party cookies. We also use third-party cookies – which are cookies from a domain different than the domain of the website you are visiting – for our advertising and marketing efforts. More specifically, we use cookies and other tracking technologies for the following purposes:

Strictly Necessary Cookies

These cookies are necessary for the website to function and cannot be switched off in our systems. They are usually only set in response to actions made by you which amount to a request for services, such as setting your privacy preferences, logging in or filling in forms. You can set your browser to block or alert you about these cookies, but some parts of the site will not then work. These cookies do not store any personally identifiable information.

Performance Cookies

These cookies allow us to count visits and traffic sources so we can measure and improve the performance of our site. They help us to know which pages are the most and least popular and see how visitors move around the site. All information these cookies collect is aggregated and therefore anonymous. If you do not allow these cookies we will not know when you have visited our site, and will not be able to monitor its performance.
